

Call for Nominations – CASC Board of Directors

CASC is seeking candidates for their 2013 election to happen in Victoria, BC in June during the annual conference. You are encouraged to nominate colleagues and interested persons may also nominate themselves.

Serving on the CASC Board

As a board member, you are a steward of the organization. You participate in decision-making and organizing around such activities as the annual conference, building the network of co-operative researchers, and other related activities. The CASC board typically meets monthly by phone/skype. Upon being elected, you could consider a role such as President (who convenes and chairs meetings and oversees all projects of the board), Vice-President (accountable for the website), Program Chair for the conference (prepares call for proposals, reviews submissions, organizes program and logistics with a small team), Program Committee Member or other roles as needed by the organization.

Criteria

Candidates must be:

- A member of CASC at the time of election
- An individual who supports the goals of CASC (academics, practitioners and students are all eligible)
- Able to commit the time to attending meetings and participating in select projects between meetings
